CREAM OF NEWS.

IF IT IS NEW AND TRUE THIS COLUMN HAS IT.

Three Broken Bones—Base Ball Season Opens—Blind Man Weds.—The Dog Law—Police Court News.

Two Games this Week.

Manager Galbreath has two games of baseball booked for this week, one for Thursday and the other for Friday. The Auburn boys, a very strong team, will cross bats with our home boys on the occasions. Our city nine will be made up of the pick of the local players and those attending may expect a fine game both days. The games will be called at 2:30 p. m. sharp, in order that parties living at a distance may see all of the game before the departure of the afternoon trains. It will only be a few days when manager Galbreath will open the season with the regular team, and there will not be a stronger semi-professional club in the south. Lovers of first-class ball playing will have an opportunity this season of witnessing some fine games at our park and should watch out for the dates. Hopkinsville has one of the finest ball parks in Western Kentucky and Mr. Galbreath intends to make the games this season quite a feature among the city's various amusements.

Paid Without Appeal.

(Clarksville Toanaco Leaf-Chronicle.)
$3,000 damages was paid the attorney for plaintiff yesterday in the case of J. W. Moss against the L. & N. R. R. company for killing his son, John W. Moss.

John Moss was a brakeman of the L. & N. railroad and was killed in the service at Guthrie last December a year ago, for which suit for damages was instituted in the Todd county, Kentucky circuit court. The suit was brought for $10,000, and about two weeks ago the jury brought in a verdict at Elkton; giving the complainant, J. W. Moss, father of the deceased, $3,000. A check for the amount was sent Mr. Moss' attorney yesterday and was paid him to-day, less the cost of the litigation.

Police Court News.

Four cases were disposed of before Judge Hanbery Saturday morning. O. T. Dixon, George Hill and Wm. Howell, all colored men, charged with fighting. Hill was fined $5 and costs, Dixon 1 cent and costs and the case against Howell was dismissed. Bud Baker, col., was given 60 days in the work house for a breach of the peace. Baker knocked down an old colored man named Pomp Griffin with a wooden box Friday night, laying him out for several minutes.

A Good Man Gone.

GRACEY, April 29.—Mr. Al Crenshaw died at his home near Roaring Springs yesterday. He was one of Trigg county's best citizens and leaves a large family to mourn his loss. He was the brother of Judge Robert Crenshaw and Dr. J. W. Crenshaw, of Cadiz. Mr. Crenshaw's death was reported about three weeks ago, but it proved an error, as he rallied from his extreme illness and death did not claim him until the above date.

Robbers at Kirkmansville.

(Tidd County Times.)

Several stores and the post-office at Kirkmansville were broken into last Tuesday night and robbed. The robber carried off about $19 and a few gallons of whisky from the stores and got about $6 out of the post-office besides breaking open quite a number of letters. It is not yet known who committed this criminal deed, but the people of Kirkmansville are exerting every effort to find out and it is believed that several arrests will be made in a few days.

Collar Your Cantine.

The new dog law will go into effect to-morrow, and all dogs caught on the streets without collars will be executed by the constabulary, or words to that effect. A tax of one dollar must be paid on every dog and the collar must contain the name of the dog's owner. To-day is the last day your dog can appear on the streets without a collar without risking his life.

A Badly Fractured Shoulder.

Late Thursday afternoon a little 4-year-old son of Mr. John C. Gary while out gathering wild flowers, fell from a high rock on the cliffs of Little River, badly fracturing one of his shoulders. Dr. Seargent was immediately summoned and rendered the necessary surgical aid. The little fellow was getting along nicely at last accounts.

Dislocated Her Hip.

Mrs. Lucy Elgin, who resides several miles East of this city, while walking in her yard Friday, had the misfortune to fall and dislocate her hip. A physician was summoned, and the injured limb attended to, but she will be laid for several weeks.

CAPT. GRACEY DEAD.

Clarksville's Leading Citizen and Most Prominent Business Man.

Capt. Frank P. Gracey, of Clarksville, died of apoplexy Saturday. He had called at Geo. McDaniel's to see him about a fishing trip. Mr. McDaniel was absent and after telling his wife his business he arose to leave, saying he must have some air. As he went to the door he sank down upon the floor. Mrs. McDaniel called a colored man and they put him on the bed and unfastened his collar, but in five minutes he was dead. Physicians were soon at hand and pronounced it a case of apoplexy.

The times gives this sketch of his life: "Capt. Frank Patton Gracey was born in Eddyville, Ky., June 30, 1834. After completing his education he began business as a clerk in Hickman, Ky., in 1850, and 1852 he took a position as clerk on the Steamer America, operating between Nashville and New Orleans. From this time until 1857 he was in some capacity connected with steamboating. From 1857 to 1861 he was engaged in the mercantile business at Eddyville, and when the war broke out he entered the confederate service as Lieutenant of Company F, Third Kentucky Infantry. The company was soon ordered to Bowling Green, Ky., where it was detailed to take charge of a battery of light artillery. Captain Gracey was soon called to the command of the artillery and his unerring judgment and dauntless courage gave him a prestige which won the confidence and love of private and officer alike. He was seriously wounded at Kennesaw mountain and slightly wounded in several other engagements. At the close of the war he came to Clarksville and settled. He married Miss Irene Cobb in 1857. Her relatives lived in Clarksville. His parole forbade his going north of the Tennessee line without a special permit from the secretary of war and hence he came to Clarksville.

In February 1866 his brother Matt Gracey came to Clarksville also and they established a wharf boat. They established also a dray system by which they contracted with the L. & N. railroad to deliver all freight shipped over that line.

He was interested in more matters of public enterprise perhaps than any man in Clarksville. He was the owner of two large farms near Clarksville. He was president of the Clarksville gas works. He was a director in the Northern bank. He was the executor of the Bryce Stewart estate. He was the prime mover in the Gracey-Woodward Iron Co. He was at the head of the Clarksville Land Improvement Co. He was a member of Forbes Bivouac. He was largely interested in railroad circles.

His death was a public calamity to the city. No event for years has cast such a gloom over the city.

The works which he has done for Clarksville are monuments more lasting than memorial marble. His record as a soldier and a citizen, as a public benefactor and private individual is a tribute to the ancestry whence he sprang, and will be the inestimable pride of his posterity in years to come.

Capt. Gracey had but one child, Julien Gracey. He is a young man of promise and gives evidence of being the worthy son of such an ancestry as few men can boast."

The funeral took place Sunday from the Episcopal church.

He Sniffeth the Earthquake.

It is a well-known fact that horses can hear sounds that are not perceptible to human ears. For days previous to the great earthquake in the Riviera the horses of that locality showed every symptom of fear, which continued without change of character, unless it was in the direction of greater frenzy, till the fury of the great convulsion broke forth. Not until a few seconds, however, before the earth began to tremble did human beings hear the subterranean rumblings. One writer from the scene says that in his opinion the horses knew that the great quake was on the way from seventy-two to one hundred hours before their masters heard or felt the first jar.—St. Louis Republic.

Took the Ship's Log as Bait.

The log and part of the line of the bark John J. Marsh, now discharging a cargo of salt at this port from Ragged Island, is believed to be in a course of digestion in a shark's stomach. The Marsh was beating her way north through the Bahamas, the home of the man-eaters, when a pull almost strong enough to bring the vessel to a halt was felt by all on deck. In looking aft the line was seen disappearing down the throat of a big shark. As the log is made of copper and weighs several pounds, it is probably by this time making the sea monster feel somewhat uncomfortable.—Philadelphia Record.

DEATHS.

STOKES.—Ned Stokes, a popular traveling man, died at Princeton Friday, after a lengthy illness of consumption. Mr. Stokes was a traveling salesman for a large wholesale paper establishment of Cincinnati, and was regarded as one of the most successful salesmen on the road. He was a man of a pleasant social disposition and was held in high esteem by his employers and friends. He was well known in this city, having once lived here. His funeral occurred at Princeton Saturday and the remains were interred in the family burying ground at that place.

McKEE.—Mrs. Ellen T. McKee, widow of the late Charles McKee, died at her home near Casky, Friday night in the 56th year of her age, after a short illness. She was a lady of the highest christian character, having been for many years a consistent member of the Cumberland Presbyterian church. Her funeral services were held Saturday afternoon and the interment took place in Hope-well cemetery.

A Blind Man Marries.

Rev. N. B. Morehead and Miss A. L. Rushing, of Mason, Ky., were married at the Springfield Hotel, Springfield, Thursday morning at 8 o'clock. They eloped from their homes in the Purchase. Rev. R. F. Patton performed the ceremony. The groom is utterly blind and is a minister of the gospel. The couple passed through this city Friday enroute home.

Brakeman Breaks a Leg.

Bud Pearson, an L. & N. brakeman whose home is in Bowling Green, was the victim of a very painful accident last Wednesday morning at Guthrie. In jumping from a car he broke his leg at the ankle. His injuries, though not serious are quite painful and will keep him laid up for several weeks. Pearson has been in the employ of the railroad for several years and is considered a first rate railroad man.

New Mexico's Climate.

For variety of climate New Mexico leads the other territories of the union. This is due in part to her extent from north to south, covering as it does seven degrees of latitude. More still is perhaps due to differences in altitude, which, within her borders, ranges from four thousand to fourteen thousand feet. Conditions of aridity and rarefaction and highly electrical conditions of the atmosphere dependent upon altitude, increase the diversity beyond the mere question of cold and heat. In establishing an arbor day for the territory, the legislature at first selected two days, one for the northern and the other for the southern half of New Mexico, but these proved insufficient to meet the conditions of the climate to all localities. So the designation of the day in each county is now left with the county school superintendent, who is supposed to fix it at the best season for tree planting in his locality.

How to Hear a Play.

Speaking of the young man who talks in public places I heard a retort made to him last Thursday night which was so good I was surprised never to have heard it before. It was at the theater, and the young man had seen the play before. He let everybody for four seats around know that, and he kept telling just what was coming and just how funny it would be when it did come. He had a pretty girl with him, and he was trying to amuse her. At length he said:

"Did you ever try listening to a play with your eyes shut? You've no idea how queer it seems."

A middle-aged man with a red face sat just in front. He twisted himself about in his seat and glared at the young man.

"Young man," said he, "did you ever try listening to a play with your mouth shut?"

And the silence was almost painful.—Washington Post.

Prof. Blackie's Last Words.

"We can vouch for the truth of the following very typical and touching story of the last words of the late Prof. Blackie. His wife was talking with him of charity: 'Ah, yes, Hans,' she said, 'you have always been so fond of speaking of the three—faith, hope and charity—he agape, as you called her.'"

"The dying man, following the more accurate pronunciation of Greek which prevails in Scotland, gently corrected the misplaced accent—'agape, my dear.' And those were the last words Prof. Blackie uttered—a strikingly characteristic combination of his lifelong ideas of kindness and scholarship."—London Chronicle.
